2014 - June [1] (a) "FEMA is to facilitate external trade and payments and promotion of orderly development and maintenance of foreign exchange market in India." Discuss in brief. (5 marks)

Answer:

Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1973 (FERA) was a relatively strict Act, that had as its main objective as the control of all foreign exchange movements to and from India. The Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999, which has replaced FERA, is mainly intended to manage the flows of foreign exchange and to encourage FDI in India.

Broadly, the objectives of FEMA are:

- (i) To facilitate external trade and payments; and
- (ii) To promote the orderly development and maintenance of foreign exchange market. The Act reserves an important role for the Reserve Bank of India in the administration of FEMA. The rules, regulations and norms pertaining to several sections of the Act are laid down by the Reserve Bank of India, in consultation with the Central Government. These help in maintaining the economy by ensuring a steady movement of foreign exchange.

As the very name indicates, the Act is to 'manage' not to 'regulate'; hence FEMA, 1999 is a very investor friendly Act. FEMA was passed with the objective of facilitating external trade and payments and for promoting the orderly development and maintenance of foreign exchange market in India. FEMA lays down that 'everything other than what is expressly covered is not controlled'.

2014 - Dec [3] (c) Discuss the methods of funding of foreign direct investment (FDI) under the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999.

Methods of funding of FDI

- (v) According to the provisions of Foreign Exchange Management (Permissible Capital Account Transaction) (Amendment) Regulation, 2007, Jay, a person resident in India, can take a Life Insurance Policy from a foreign insurance company with a yearly premium of US$ 25,000.
- (b) • Provisions of Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act, 2010 prohibits acceptance of foreign hospitality by certain persons except with the prior permission of Central Government.
 - Accordingly no member of legislature, office bearer of a political party, Judge, government servant or employee of a corporation shall while visiting any country or territory outside India accepts without the prior permission of the Central Government, any foreign - hospitality.

- However it shall not be necessary to obtain any such prior permission for an emergent medical aid needed on account of sudden illness contracted during the visit outside India.
 - The person receiving such medical aid is required to give, within one month from the date of receipt of such hospitality, an intimation to the Central Government as to the receipt of such hospitality and the source from which and the manner in which such hospitality was received by him.
 - Thus Ashok did not violate the Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act, 2010.

As per the Foreign Exchange Management (Permissible Capital Account Transactions) Regulations, 2000, a person may take the prior approval of the Central Government before undertaking any transaction that comes under Schedule II of the Foreign Exchange Management (Current Account Transactions) Amendment Rules, 2015.
